The Hong Kong Institution of Engineers (Environmental Division) is a supporting organization of APLAS2016

You are cordially invited to attend the 9th Asia-Pacific Landfill Symposium (APLAS) entitled “Integrated Waste Management and Sustainable Landfilling”, organized by the Department of Civil Engineering, the University of Hong Kong (HKU) and the Landfill System & Technologies Research, Association of Japan, NPO (NPO, LSA).

About the Symposium

APLAS is a bi-annual symposium originally established to discuss about the topics relevant to landfill issues. Recently, the APLAS has become a major international meeting in the Asia-Pacific region for the discussion of more sustainable waste management practices among research, policy-making and industrial communities. This year, the received papers will be presented in the sessions of policy and challenges in managing waste, waste prevention, reduction collection and transportation, waste characterization and utilization strategies, waste-to-resource/energy, hazardous, industrial and special waste, special session on anaerobic syntrophy, special session on wastewater treatment and resource recovery, integrated waste treatment technologies, progress in enhancing landfill sustainability, landfill gas collection, and leachate treatment technologies. For 16 years, this is the first time Hong Kong has successfully bidden for hosting this renowned symposium series.

Distinguished Guest

Mr. Kam-Sing Wong, GBS, JP, Secretary for the Environment, Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Government

Keynote Speakers

Genomic and Proteomic Insights into Syntrophy and Its Role in Biomethanation in Engineered Habitats
